Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

The most-pleasant revelation Tuesday evening that Democrat Dee Huddleston had defeated Republican Louie Nunn for Senator lifted a lot of eyebrows down in this area — as it seemed to do statewide — but provided a lot of satisfaction for us Democrats in the First District.

In the first place, I know Dee will be our close friend and good political ally, even though Republican John Sherman Cooper served us well and always received strong support down in this county. Obviously a majority of the voters believed that putting the same saddle on a new horse doesn't necessarily mean that he'll follow the same tracks.

Then, there is the important consideration of a good strong tie between a good Democratic State administration and a good Democratic Senator in Washington; it helps. In Kentucky, we elect a Republican Governor about every 20 years, yet we have not had a Democratic Senator since Earle Clements was defeated in 1956 (16 years ago). Governor Ford campaigned hard and well to help Dee achieve his victory.

Then too, Louie didn't work very hard down in this area; he left the impression that since it appeared President Nixon would win handily, he would also be swept into office with the big Nixon broom. But it didn't work out that way in Kentucky, nor in a lot of

JOTTINGS from Jo's Notebook

Always Another

With the stunning victory of Dee Huddleston for United States Senator over former Governor Louie Nunn the wheels are already in motion to elect another Democratic senator in 1974 when Republican Senator Marlow Cook seeks re-election.

From what I have been hearing in campaign talk around the state there will be at least two well-known Democrats seeking the nomination to run against Cook.

One of them is former Governor Edward T. Breathitt, and the other is John Young Brown, Jr., the Kentucky fried chicken king and a rising star on the state and national political scene.

Me and My Shadow

The election is over now.

I hope that the candidate for whom you cast your vote appreciated your support, as I am sure he (or she) did. Regardless of the outcome of Tuesday's elections, aren't you glad you participated in the Democratic process by exercising the American privilege of choosing the individuals who will guide our governmental destinies in the months and years to come.

Usually, after an election, large or small, I like to write post-mortems of what might have been, but today somehow, I am reminded of a little poem some of us recited in our school days of long ago.

It goes something like this:

I have a little shadow,

That goes in and out with me

And what can be the use of it,

Is more than I can see.

Diminishing Shadow

For the nearly 26 years that we have been in Fulton County, and in the same number of years that I have been an interested observer in the county, state and national political scene there has been a fellow who has been something of a political shadow that has followed my every political move, and what has been the need for it is more than I have ever been able to see.

I have never paid the least bit of attention to the mythical influence of this self-styled political boss, nor have many others for that matter, even in those far-away days when the fellow believed that he was the power and surmised the glory of victory for the candidates of his choice.

Today, in his dotage, this political shadow is totally invisible in the sphere of political influence. With a fervor, near senility, and Walter "Dee" Huddleston, with a quiet but strongly effective campaign organization in Fulton County defeated former Governor Louie Nunn on Tuesday with the help of an extremely good vote all over the county.

Huddleston's state-wide lead over Nunn at press time on Wednesday was about 35,000 votes. He carried the First District by nearly 28,000 votes.

While Huddleston received every good majority in almost every precinct in Fulton County, his victory in the four precincts in the City of Fulton was seen as something of an "upset" by long-time political observers.

As Governor, Nunn favored the City of Fulton with more than the usual amount of patronage with huge grants to the Urban Renewal project, the Ba-

Baker, Jones Win Tennessee Races Tuesday

Scoring heavily in all sections of the state, Senator Howard Baker Tuesday won a second term by burying his Democratic challenger under an avalanche of votes.

The 46-year-old Knoxville Republican, who was catapulted into the national spotlight periodically during his first Senate term, appeared likely to double his 100,000-vote victory margin of six years ago as three-term Representative Ray Blanton fell by the wayside.

With 2,188 of 2,447 precincts reporting statewide:

West Tennessee voters returned incumbents Dan Kuykendall (R-Tenn.) and Ed Jones (D-Tenn.) to the House of Representatives Tuesday and played the big role in ousting William Anderson (D-Tenn.) from Congress.

Representative Jones, 60, of Yorkville, won early over Republican challenger Stockton Adkins, 36, a Union City feed and grain dealer on his first political outing.

Proposes Interstate Road Route To Bisect This Area

The board of directors of the Union City Chamber of Commerce strongly opposes an interstate route from Kansas City, Mo., to Jacksonville, Fla., which would touch only Memphis in Tennessee and has proposed an alternate route which would bisect both West Tennessee and West Kentucky.

The board also pointed out the tremendous impact such a route would have on the river port at Hickman, not to mention the economic impact it would give the western portions of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Another group has proposed that the new route cross the new bridge at Dyersburg and then intersect with Interstate 40 near Jackson.

With highways already at a bare minimum in West Kentucky and West Tennessee, the local chamber directors are recommending that the route swing through Western Kentucky, cross the Mississippi River on a new bridge between Cairo, Illinois and Dyersburg and then bisect all of West Tennessee on its route to Jacksonville.

The recommendation will be (Continued on page six)

It was announced today that the city of Hickman police department will, this week, start time-speeding vehicles with an electrically operated timing device.

The department has had possession of the instrument for approximately one month during which time they have been becoming familiar with it.

14 Arrested In Drug Raid At Martin

At least 14 persons, several of them students at the University of Tennessee at Martin, were taken into custody in Weakley County Friday and Saturday as the result of an investigation into alleged illegal drugs activities.

Martin Police Chief Robert Benningfield said he ordered the arrests Friday after discovering that those under investigation had learned the identity of an undercover agent for the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification who had been spearheading the investigation.

"We hadn't planned to close in so soon but, when the agent was exposed, we had to move swiftly," Chief Benningfield (Continued on page 6)

Father Of Fulton Man Wrote Interesting Book About Civil War

HARRY GEORGE, son of author Henry George, and his lovely wife are residents of Haws Memorial in Fulton. A native of Wingo, Mr. and Mrs. George lived in Paducah until a few years ago when they moved to Fulton to be near their daughter, Mrs. Hugh Fly.

By Ouida Jewell

"If I was going to select a design for a monument to the women of the South, I would have a lovely middle-aged woman, such as the South only can produce, standing with one arm embracing a manly boy of eighteen or twenty years of age, and with the index finger of the other hand pointing to a poorly-clad Southern army, hotly engaged attempting to hurl back the Federal invaders, telling the boy where his duty calls him: and with her angelic face, turned heavenward, dedicating her son to the Cause of her Country."

"This scene was enacted in thousands of instances, and there were no more heroic, self-sacrificing action enacted during the war. It was like offering her very soul upon the altar of her country, and it seems to me that would correctly portray the crowning acts of all the noble deeds our lovely women did for the Southern Cause."

Thus wrote Henry George in the concluding chapter, Women of the South, in his book, "History of the 3d, 7th, 8th and 12th Kentucky C. S. A."

Mr. George was the father of Mr. Harry George of Fulton and grandfather of Mrs. Hugh Fly of Fulton.

In the Preface of the book, Bennett H. Young wrote:

"Little is known by Confederates at large of the heroism of these Kentuckians who served under General Forrest. To give them their proper place in history has been the highest ambition of Colonel Henry George. Forty-six years is a long period to await vindication, but through these years Colonel George has nursed this purpose to tell the world of what his associates did in the great war."

"Almost a child in 1861, he enlisted in the Seventh Kentucky Infantry. He saw all that splendid regiment did, and in its battles and marches he followed its fortunes to the end, when, in May, 1865, it fired its quiver and laid down its arms, so gloriously borne, and accepted the results fate decreed should come to the Confederate cause. "Painstaking, candid, just, and, above all, scrupulously careful of truth, no man could bring to the task of putting these Kentuckians in proper historical setting, than the author of this book. Modest, he says but little of himself, and yet in the story of the dangers, privations and triumphs of his beloved companions in arms, he finds amply compensation for the labor, love and energy that comes to book-making. All those who love the Confederate cause, who cherish its heroic memories, will thank the author for what he has written in these pages, and the volume will be greatly valued by those who shall hereafter aid in writing a true history of the deeds of those who wore the gray and followed the Stars and Bars, some to death, but all who survived to the sad end of the Southland's illustrious effort for National life."

In one chapter there are biographical sketches of the following: Col. Edward Crossland of Hickman County; Brigadier-General Hyland B. Lyon of Kentucky; Virgil Y. Cook of Boydsville, Graves County; Brigadier-General Abram Buford of Kentucky; Col. Charles Wickliffe of Blandville; Col. Albert P. Thompson; Charles F. Jarrett of Hopkinsville; Col. G. A. C. Holt of Livingston County; Major Henry S. Hale of Mayfield; Robert A. Browder of Fulton County; Captain J. A. Collins of the southern part of Graves County; and Henry George, the author.

"Henry George, of Graves County, Kentucky, soldier, legislator and State official, was born in Graves County, Ky., in 1847. He entered the Confederate service in November, 1861, as a private in Company, Seventh Kentucky Infantry, and served with that command throughout the war, participating in many engagements, among them Shiloh, Baker's Creek, Corinth, Jackson, Tishomingo Creek, Guntown, Paducah, Franklin, Nashville, Murfreesboro, Montebello and other states either.

I think the whole national result can well be summed up by the remark of one local observer Wednesday, who commented that "The people decided that they wanted Nixon in office for another four years, but then turned around and elected Democrats to the Congress to keep a sharp watch on him."

I felt a really sad personal loss over the past weekend in the death of Bill Byars, long-time theatre manager in Martin. For twenty years or so Bill has been the drummer in our Melody Men orchestra, and a good one. Bill and I, and Charley Andrews, and Charlie Pounds, and Charles Wade Andrews have played for countless dances and entertainment throughout this area through the years, and we'll all miss old Bill back there in the rhythm section... if, indeed, we ever play together again at all.

In the mail Wednesday morning came a booklet from the State Division of planning and Programming in Frankfort, which summarized a study of Kentucky Population Projections 1975-2020.

I was particularly interested in the projected population growth of Fulton and Fulton County, since I have discussed this matter in our recent editorials and news stories dealing with the EW James matter.

Not too surprisingly, the study doesn't suggest that we are in for any growth explosion, although I don't think it takes into any consideration the fact that Fulton County lies only five miles from the largest tire manufacturing facility in the world, which is still expanding and adding Fulton counties to its payrolls.

Nor does it provide any "plus" growth to Hickman, a growing river port that one of these days is going to land some good industry by virtue of its position on the busy Mississippi.

The following is an excerpt of the report:

Comments the report, summarizing their conclusions on growth of Purchase Counties: "Overall growth in the Purchase is projected to be half the statewide average: about five percent between 1970 and 1980. Calloway and Marshall Counties are expected to grow by 14 percent and 13 percent respectively because of the expansion of the industrial base already present and proximity to the Land Between the Lakes recreation area.

Four counties along the river — Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle and Ballard — are projected to lose population because of continued out-migration. The remaining counties in the Purchase will have very slow positive growth."

Turning Back The Clock

TWENTY YEARS AGO FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1952

The Democrats in Fulton County won the battle, but lost the victory in Tuesday's election. Although the Democrats won their battle to give the Democratic ticket a majority in the county, they lost the victory as a result of greater Republican strength in other parts of the State.

More than 57,000,000 persons went to the polls Tuesday. More than 31,000,000 persons cast their vote for General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Cadet Jimmy Whitnel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Whitnel of Wingo, was listed on the honor roll for the first month at Castle Heights Military Academy in Lebanon, Tenn.

Pretty little Rita Kramer, vivacious brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kramer was selected as Cub Scout queen at the annual Cub Scout Carnival held at the school last week. Rita won over a group of the city's loveliest lassies. Her attendants are: Nancy Bushart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bushart and Sandra Williams, daughter of Mrs. Fanny Williams.

Rita succeeds Betty McDade, and will reign over all Cub Scout activities for the coming year.

Mrs. William McClanahan and Mrs. Lon Brown were hostesses to a lovely gift tea, Sunday afternoon at the Brown residence on Pearl Street, honoring Mrs. Fred Jolley, who was before her recent marriage, Mrs. Carlene Stokes.

Hayden Donoho, well-known farmer, was painfully injured Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car. The accident occurred near the Pat Smith Furniture Store. Local physicians stated that he was not seriously hurt, as the wheels did not pass over him.

I am really enjoying my work at 'The News office. Everyone is so friendly. It's so nice to work with friendly folks who appreciate you and your efforts.

The reason I appreciate such treatment is because of the fact that I am just recovering from an unfriendly ordeal in a neighboring town last year.

with obvious stupidity he is spending his waning days castigating me personally and politically, and what can be the use of it is more than I can see.

The other day in a Hickman saloon, which he frequents constantly for lack of gainful employment, my political shadow allegedly made the statement, before a goodly number of by-standers, that he was going to fight me politically until he has the pleasure of putting the last nail in my coffin.

The statement is further attest of his stupidity, for he should know that coffin lids aren't put together with nails anymore, and even if they were, he ought to know that I've worked hard enough in my life-time so that my family will put me away in a nice, handsome I hope, metal casket. So, there the silly old man will be with hammer in hand and no where to go, just as he certainly has no where to go today politically, if he ever had anywhere to go, on the political influence scene.

I Take That Back

Alas, I must indeed retract that last statement about my political enemy's having anywhere to go.

Did he ever have somewhere to go?

Ironically, his travel arrangements were cancelled as a result of some state-wide influence that I helped to create, and I'll let the statement rest right there, for the man in question knows exactly whereof I speak. He violently fought his political benefactor, in the latter's state-wide race, and then had the temerity to seek a most serious favor from the gentleman he helped to defeat.

It all happened about ten years ago. Shucks, I haven't got time to write about that this week. All I can say about it is to repeat an old adage that says... "a man who lives in a glass house ought to get up before day-break to take a bath."

The latter statement is made figuratively. It means however, that my shadow ought to just take a disappearing powder-out of my life for the sake of a lot of people who have no business being hurt.

Anyhow, if my shadow's candidates won yesterday, I'm happy, if he's happy. I just hope that he will call upon the winning candidates he supported for the many, many projects we need for Fulton County.

In doing so, he will be remembered much, much longer for his constructive deeds rather than for the futile destruction he plans for a little ole, country newspaper editor. And it should be far more satisfying to him, but maybe not.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:
The Lions Clubs of the Chan-nel 6 Television viewing area are sponsoring the sixteenth Club news release and pictures 15 hour "TELETHON OF STARS" for the benefit of the crippled children of Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri, beginning at 10 p.m. Saturday, November 18th, and continuing through the night, ending at 1 p.m. Sunday, November 19th. We again solicit your assistance in putting on this essential program. Through the wholehearted support of your newspaper and the citizens of this area, the crippled children of our four states are receiving improved service and care so vital to their lives. Last year better than $250,000 was contributed and it was distributed to the crippled children's clinics in the state from which it was donated. We are again hoping to surpass our record breaking total of last year. We have enclosed a Lion's Club news release and pictures of the stars who will perform "STARS" on this year's "TELETHON OF STARS." We encourage you to run this story in your newspaper when you feel that it will do the most good. This one year Telethon has become necessary in order to provide physical, speech and occupational therapy for hundreds of children who must have financial assistance. Very truly yours, Edward B. Fritts, Publicity Chairman P. O. Box 450 Paducah, Kentucky other day and I had her give me a schedule of her day when she and Stanley are in Fort Lauderdale. They own a apartment in plush Lauderdale Hills there.

Her answer was "Nothing."

"I usually get up around 7 or 7:30, as that's the time we get up here. I fix coffee and get the paper. Then, we have coffee in bed while we read the news. Finally, we get up and have breakfast. Sometimes we do nothing. Other times we visit with our neighbors... then, other days we go out and stay until bed-time," Margaret continued.

Stanley spends some time with his sailboat, but Margaret isn't fond of boats.

Stanley and Margaret returned to Florida Saturday, and plans to return here for Christmas.

In speaking of airplane flights, Margaret told of an unusual flight she had when she and Gordon went to Ecuador.

They made their reservations several weeks in advance. Then, at the Atlanta airport the gate was suddenly swung closed right in front of Margaret. She and twenty other passengers, with reservations for that particular plane to Miami, were told that the plane was full, that they would have to take another flight.

"But, my son is already on that plane," Margaret told the hostess, but it did no good. Continued on Page 6

Everett Is Speaker At Woman's Club

The Fulton Woman's Club met in general session 7:30 p.m., Friday, November 3, in the club home, with the Junior Department acting as the hostess group and being in charge of the program. The president, Mrs. James Green, called the meeting to order and directed the discussion of several items of business presented.

The devotion on the theme of Thanksgiving was given by Mrs. Gaylon Varden. A beautiful musical arrangement of the Club Collect was led by Mrs. Nelson Tripp. Mrs. L. W. Duncan, Chairman of the Junior Department, presented the guest speaker, Mr. James M. Everett, presently vocational instructor of the Agriculture Department of Fulton County High School, and the newly elected Director of the Area Vocational School to be opened in Fulton County in the fall of 1973. His subject was "Gardening Ideas for Winter".

The discussion covered plant protection, mulches of various types, compost, bulb planting, house plant care and other items of special interest at this season. The questions asked by the audience and the general participation in the discussion reflected genuine interest in the subject and in Mr. Everett's presentation of it. About twenty-five members then enjoyed refreshments and a time of fellowship with Mr. and Mrs. Everett. Hostesses were Mrs. Richard Gossum, Miss Pat Sitton and Mrs. Gaylon Varden.

Chestnut Glade Club Has Meeting

The Chestnut Glade Home Demonstration Club members attended the County-wide meeting at Dresden, instead of their October meeting, which was on that date. Mrs. Grace Prince announced that the Chestnut Glade Club was organized fifty years ago in October.

A short business meeting was held after the noon day meal was enjoyed at the City Cafe. Many articles were shown and demonstrated at both the morning and afternoon sessions at the Farm Bureau Building, where the group met.

Plans were made for workshops for several different articles. Of interest was a workshop for needlepoint and Barretto needlework with Mrs. Paul Sutton instruction. Several members of different clubs presented the different items. Many patterns were given for the different articles. It was agreed that the day was well spent with the association with club members from over the county.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. V. C. Simpson on the third Thursday, November 16. Visitors are cordially welcomed.

100 Members Attend FHA Meet

Miss Mangold, Bride-Elect, Is Honored With Hickman Party

The home of Mrs. Ronnie Daniels in the Lakeview Subdivision, Hickman, was the setting recently for a kitchen shower for Miss Ann Mangold of Hickman who will become the bride of Ray Wilmoth on November 25.

Serving as co-hostesses for the party were Mrs. Arthur Gammons of Hickman and Mrs. Joe Baird of Union City.

The home was decorated throughout with wedding bells and on the coffee table was a shower cart where the gifts were displayed.

On the serving table, was a beautiful arrangement of fall flowers. Golden punch was served from a crystal punch bowl and white cake squares decorated with yellow and green wedding bells and salted nuts were served.

Mrs. Daniels conducted several contests with the winners presenting their prizes to the bride-elect.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of white carnations to pin at her shoulder. She chose a black and white checkered pants suit for the occasion. The hostesses also presented her with a set of cookware.

Mrs. Prather Mangold, mother of the bride chose an orange and white knit dress. Other special guests attending were Mrs. Milton Garrigus and Mrs. Debbie Hamill sisters of the bridegroom-to-be.

Notes and News From

Haws Memorial

A mock election was held Tuesday at Haws after a week-end of good natured campaigning. Mr. Clarence Davis, campaigner for Nixon and Mr. Van Ratcliff for McGovern, were good political workers. They distributed leaflets, buttons and bumper stickers worn as back stickers.

Voting took place in the dining room precinct with the poll opening at 10 a.m. and closing at 12 noon. When the ballot box was opened, 36 votes had been cast. Nixon won with 22 votes to McGovern's 14.

Last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Joe Luten, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Mildred Luten, invited the residents to the dining room for refreshments, celebrating Mrs. Luten's birthday.

Sunday School was held last Sunday morning at 11:15 with Mr. Larson of the South Fulton Baptist Church teaching the class. We appreciate and look forward to Sunday morning worship.

As always, we enjoy hearing the Smith Street Church of Christ Choir sing for us on Sunday afternoon.

Next Sunday, we shall look forward to the Rev. Tom Brann of Water Valley, bringing our afternoon worship service.

On Tuesday, November 14, the Tri-County Homemakers will entertain with their November birthday party. Those celebrating are Mrs. Mildred Luten, 4th, Elsie Williams and Maggie McNeilly, 14th, Lavenie Copeland, 19th and Mary Dowdy, 26th.

Discussion group leaders will include Jones, Dr. Lyman Ginger, Dr. Sidney Simandle, Dr. Paul Street, Maurice Belmont, Dr. Melvin Buller, Ray Corns, Charles Faber, Robert Summers and Preston Young.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding. No formal invitations will be issued.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: The people who adopted me are the only parents I have ever known. They have been wonderful and everything tells me how lucky I am. But there's this big blank in my life. I need to find my real parents. I have to know what the circumstances were that made them give me away. My imagination runs wild when I think about what might have happened that made them abandon me.

I think about these things more and more. It's getting so that I don't think about anything else. I have to learn the truth about myself so I can stop brooding. Don't tell me to forget it because I can't. I need some advice. --- Confused in Chicago

Dear Gracious: I go along with 1-2-3 but not 4. I can tell you from personal experience that I've had to refuse invitations from people (more than twice) from people I enjoy. A third or fourth refusal need not mean they don't wish to "get involved with you socially."

Dear Ann Landers: Your column is an instruction course in good sense, good judgment and good manners. Will you please print these basic rules for the issuing of invitations? So far as I know, nobody has ever done it.

1. Write or telephone. Don't ask a third party to relay the message. It's an insult at worst and at best, an indication that you didn't care enough to do it yourself.

2. If you get a refusal, don't ask why or make the person feel uncomfortable about not accepting. Say, "I hope we will see you another time."

3. It is always appreciated if you mention others who have accepted. People like to know who else will be present and are often reluctant to ask.

4. If your invitations are refused more than twice, take the hint. They do not wish to get involved with you socially. ---We Like Gracious Living

Dear Gracious: I go along with 1-2-3 but not 4. I can tell you from personal experience that I've had to refuse invitations from people (more than twice) from people I enjoy. A third or fourth refusal need not mean they don't wish to "get involved with you socially."

Dear Ann Landers: Your response to "I Hate Medicine" drove me to write.

Your suggestion that parents, when they don't feel well, should keep it to themselves and not let their children know, was nutty. I have eight children, six still at home, and I have plenty of splitting headaches. Why shouldn't I let the kids know? Usually they are the cause.

The younger generation's motto, "Tell it like it is," is a good one. Rethink your answer and change your advice. ---No Phoney Baloney

Dear N.P.: Children are the world's best imitators. Invariably they take on the physical symptoms they hear discussed at home. Mothers who complain of "cramps" will have daughters who will do the same. Fathers with frequent backaches will have sons with frequent backaches.

There's a difference between "telling it like it is" and telling more than people need to know. Discretion is the greater part of valor.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangements. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage--What To Expect," will prepare you for better or worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ford Proclaims "Exceptional Child Week"

Wendell H. Ford, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky proclaimed recently that the period of November 6-11 as Exceptional Child Week in Kentucky and he urges all citizens to actively participate in this observance.

He stated further that ten percent of the children of this nation have learning disabilities and many inroads have not been developed to help the exceptional child with these learning disabilities.

Screening, testing, and diagnostic clinics have been organized, progress to educate the people has begun, and special schools and tutorial programs are in operation. The citizens of the Commonwealth are cognizant of the fact that exceptional children with learning disabilities can become productive citizens of the state and the nation through dedicated and trained directorship.

Many Kentuckians have volunteered their services as tutors of our "special children."

Teachers To Meet Nov. 17 In Louisville

"Evolving Ethical and Legal Responsibility in Teacher Education" will be the theme for the second annual conference of the Kentucky Association of Teacher Educators and the Kentucky Department of Education in Louisville November 17-18.

Highlighting the two-day meeting at Stouffer's Inn for people engaged in teacher education will be addresses by two prominent educators. They are: --Dr. Richard Strahan, an attorney and professor at the University of Houston who has had teaching experience at the secondary level as well as the junior college and senior college levels. He has also served as an academic dean and college president.

--Dr. James Rath, chairman of the department of elementary education at the University of Illinois. An educational researcher, he has written books and articles for publication related to student teaching and the art of classroom teaching. Strahan will be the keynote speaker for the first general session Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, beginning at 1:30 p.m. on Friday. She was also president of the November 17, while Rath will be the speaker at the same evening.

Pilots Conclude Season With 6-Record

The Fulton County Pilots concluded their season with a 6-4 record, the best in the school's history Friday evening, November 3, by being blanked out 50-0 by Crittenden County High School.

At halftime the Rockets led 34-0 and continued to score throughout the final half, finishing their season with a 6-5 tally. In the first period, Crittenden County quarterback, Mike Sutton, successfully completed two touchdowns with Mike Tosh. The first, a 20 yard play with a pass to Bob Johnson for the extra points and the second, a 19 yard play with an unsuccessful attempt for the conversion.

Runs by Mike Taylor of one yard and 23 yards followed as Taylor ran the conversion on the first touchdown and Ricky Porter the next.

Sutton and Tosh were back again, scoring on a 15 yard play with an unsuccessful conversion. The final two touchdowns were scored when Johnson sprinted 51 yards and Taylor hie from six yards out.

When questioned about Friday night's game, Coach James Whitby stated, "We just fell apart and didn't do anything and, when they got the chance, they poured it on." He added that he and his boys would like to apologize to their loyal fans for the poor showing Friday.

After such a wonderful season with so many highlights and broken records, and so many great supporters, he regrets that the season had to end the way it did.

"Who's Who" Is Selected At Fulton High School

Four Fulton City High Students, including two juniors and two seniors, have been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students by Principal Bobby Snider.

Students are selected from the five percent of the class academically.

Those named in "Who's Who" include David Thompson and Gigi Brock, seniors and Mark Welch and Margaret Kay (Peggy) Layne, juniors.

David Thompson was the Citizenship Award winner, Boys State delegate, delegate to Japanese American Cultural Seminar, Journalism Clinic and Spoke Conference. He was recently selected Rotary Student of the month and was named to Merit Who's Who and Senior Who's Who.

An all-A student, he is president of Quill and Scroll and an officer in Mu Alpha Theta. He is a member of the National Honor Society, class officer and has played basketball for three years. He is assistant editor of The Kennel and Photography Editor of the Gr-R-Rowl and served as football statistician for three years. He received the FHS Award his junior year and is a member of the Ecology Club.

Gigi Brock, also an All-A student, is president of the FHS chapter and has earned her junior and chapter degrees. She was the delegate to Girls State this past summer, and also was a delegate to the Japanese-American Cultural Seminar, Journalism Clinic. Gigi was a candidate for Miss FHS, is co-editor of the 1973 Annual. She was named to the Senior Who's Who and was a class officer for two years. She is president of Mu Alpha Theta and belongs to National Honor Society, FNA, FTA and Quill and Scroll. She has received the FHS Award and is a member of the library and office staff.

Peggy Layne, who returned to Fulton City High School this fall after attending Wichita High School for two years, is a member of Mu Alpha Theta and was elected B-team cheerleader at FHS and vice president of the freshman class, but moved before the beginning of the school year.

At Wichita she was a member of the Pep Club, Episcopal Young Churchman group, Lasanetti's Water Ballet team, honor roll student for three years, participated in Powder Puff football and was elected to the Steering Committee for the EYC in Kansas.

Mark Welch is a member of Boy Scout Troop 42, is vice president of the UMYF, and is a member of the Fulton High marching band. He has earned two monograms and is a member of Mu Alpha Theta, National Honor Society and the Kennel staff. He serves as vice president of the newly formed Ecology Club and is a class officer.

Chestnut Glade

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

No doubt most farmers in this community are disappointed this dreary Monday morning due to the weekend rains which prevented the harvesting which has been progressing nicely in this community for the past several days. The weather forecast for the next few days is not very encouraging.

Colonel and Mrs. David Nanney have returned to their home in Palo Alto, California, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Nanney, and other relatives and friends here and with their daughter, Suellen, and family and her parents in Arkansas and with several other relatives and friends on the way. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan on Friday. While here they sold the farm that he purchased from the Bud Jones heirs several years ago to Mr. and Mrs. Billie Clark, who had operated the farm the past year.

Friends were glad to see Drew Walls able to attend church service at Oak Grove Sunday after being shut-in for the past several weeks and a patient at the Fulton County Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan visited Mr. and Mrs. Jeter Bowlin and were pleased to learn that Jeter appears to be recovering nicely from surgery recently at the Lourdes Hospital in Paducah. He returned to his home Thursday. They also visited Mr. Hillman Westbrook and were sad to find him so critically sick. A visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bennett found Mr. Bennett about the same except the weather condition was not very good for his ailment. Their daughter, Darlene, is a patient in the Baptist Hospital in Memphis, where she had foot surgery a few days ago, and is reported to be recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Copeland and little Roy from Memphis spent the weekend with home-folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan spent the weekend in Sheffield, Alabama with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee of Fulton are the proud parents of a baby boy. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maynard are the grandparents.

Mrs. V. C. Simpson and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan joined several other club members at a workshop in Dresden last Wednesday for restoring picture frames.

Burns Are Fatal To South Fulton Man Sunday

A Negro man identified as Clifford Wallace, about 50, of South Fulton, was found dead in his home Sunday morning, apparently the victim of a scalding accident.

Obion County Sheriff Nathan Cunningham said his investigation showed that Wallace was cooking turnip greens sometime Saturday when he spilled the pot, suffering severe burns over the right side of his body.

Sheriff Cunningham said a friend of Wallace helped the man undress and get to bed, apparently not realizing the severity of his injuries. No charges have been filed, Sheriff Cunningham said.

South Fulton police assisted in the investigation, the sheriff added.

Wallace was a former I. C. farmer. When the ballots are sent out in the next few days it is hoped that each farmer will take advantage of the opportunity to express their preference for committee members as well as to vote in the National election next week.

Deaths

Dr. Paul Meek

Dr. Paul Meek, 75, chancellor emeritus of the University of Tennessee at Martin and vice president emeritus of the University of Tennessee, died Thursday, November 2, in Baptist Hospital, Memphis, after a brief illness.

Chancellor Meek headed UT Martin for 33 of its 45 years as a UT campus. During that time it grew from a junior college of 86 students in agriculture and home economics in 1934, to a senior, four-year campus of 3,100 students with five academic divisions. While the faculty increased from 12 to 165 professors.

During his tenure, residence halls, classroom buildings, physical education buildings, stadium, heating plant, and a student center were constructed, and campus and agriculture experiment station acreages were added. Campus property value increased from $200,000 to $20,000,000.

The Paul Meek Library in the center of the campus was named for Dr. Meek in 1967. A bronze plaque in the foyer bears his likeness. The senior educator celebrated his 75th birthday on February 9 of this year and his Golden Wedding Anniversary this past summer.

He was married in 1922 to the former Martha Campbell of Knoxville, whom he met while a student at UT Knoxville, and who survives.

The Meeks have three children: Dr. John Paul Meek of Hillsdale, N. J., assistant vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York; Dr. David Campbell Meek of Sacramento, California, cardiologist at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital; Ann Meek (Mrs. Robert) Roney of 3051 Woodhills Drive, Memphis, reading specialist in the Shelby County School System, and seven grandchildren.

A native of Weakley County, Dr. Meek spent most of his life there except for his college and graduate school years in Knoxville and a period as superintendent of Harlan, Ky., city schools.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, November 5, at the First United Methodist Church of Martin. The Rev. Paul Douglass and the Rev. Ed Crump officiated. Interment was at East Side Cemetery with Doug Murphy Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

W. T. Tucker

Funeral services for W. T. (Dodge) Tucker, 64, Water Valley, Route 1, were held at Bethlehem Methodist Church at Pilot Oak at 2 p.m. Thursday, November 2, with the Rev. Frank Gardner officiating. Burial was in Acree Cemetery.

Mr. Tucker, a retired production inspector for General Motors Co. in Detroit, died at 10 p.m. Monday, October 30, at Fulton Hospital, following an extended illness.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Corneil Moore Tucker of Water Valley, Route 1; a son, Tommy Tucker, Flint, Michigan; a daughter, Mrs. W. D. Yates, Route 1, Water Valley; a sister, Mrs. Jewel McDaniel of Tampa, Florida, and five grandchildren.

Jim Burgess

Jim Burgess of Mayfield, died Sunday, November 5, in Community Hospital. He was 77.

Mr. Burgess, an Arlington native, leaves three daughters, Mrs. Irene Perry, Arlington, Mrs. Clydyne Rose, Fulton, and Mrs. Thelma Dean Biggers, Detroit; two sons, James Burgess, Edwardsville, Illinois, and John Burgess, Mayfield; four brothers, Alvin, Otis, Orville and Hazel Burgess, all of Arlington; 18 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 7, at Jackson Funeral Home, Arlington, by the Rev. Tommy Grubbs and the Rev. James Sharp, with burial followed in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Marlar

Mrs. Nettie Marlar died at 10 p.m. Tuesday at Fulton Hospital. Her body was taken to the Curry Funeral Home at Dyersburg, Tennessee. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

ROUTE THREE

Mrs. Aline Williams

It's another beautiful sunny November 6 Monday morning in Kentucky. But the weather man says rain. Rain our part of the country could do without. The farmers want to see dry weather for harvesting their beans and corn.

We hope all the children enjoyed Halloween and got lots of goodies to eat.

Mrs. Eula B. Rozzel and Mrs. Lottie Hendrix were in Illinois Monday visiting Mrs. Rentricks brother, Rye Grissom and Mrs. Grissom, in their new home.

We had panning put on in one of our rooms last week and I'm trying to get use to it. It sure changes the looks. Mr. Work and Mr. Glisson of Duke-don put it up for us. They did a good job and fast too.

We were so sorry our neighbors and friends, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Dalton were in a bad wreck coming from St. Louis, Missouri last Monday and a truck with tires was in front to them and a tire somehow fell off the truck and caused Mr. Dalton's car to be damaged where it's impossible to fix and Mrs. Dalton was in intensive care several days and Mr. Dalton was also hospitalized and almost had pneumonia. We do hope the Daltons can soon be back home. Their address in Room 263, Baptist Hospital, Paducah, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Howard were in Mississippi last week for funeral service of Paul's brother after a long illness. Paul's mother is real sick. She will be a hundred years old if she can live through December. She now has a stroke. Our sympathy to the Howard's.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Potts were in a bad wreck last week between Paducah and Mayfield. Completely demolished their car and both were badly hurt and are in the Community Hospital in Mayfield, Room Number 220. We sure hated to hear all this bad news and do wish the best for Hermon and Ophelia.

It always makes me sad when I hear of friends we love being so painfully hurt.

We had a glad surprise one morning last week when Mrs. Estell Brann stopped by with a cousin of her's we hadn't seen for sometime, Mrs. Pistol Kingston, formerly of this Community. Of course, I didn't know her until she smiled. This was a good surprise for us. They were very close friends and neighbors to us for many years. She now lives in New Mexico. She says her brother-in-law, Mr. Dave Kingston, is 70 years old, living in Texas and they are doing fine.

Mr. J. C. Davis and daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Bowen of Memphis, were in Fulton over the weekend visiting with Mrs. Stella Jones and other relatives and friends. They had supper Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Newman Croft.

Mrs. Lupte Haley, Mr. Tom Laswell and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Williams visited Mr. and Mrs. Burette Ross awhile Saturday afternoon and also visited Mrs. Martha Lou Kindred.

Mrs. Mary Cavender and Mrs. Ruby Moody attended church at Macedonia Primitive Baptist Church in Martin Sunday morning.

Mrs. Murgeon Cannon is able to be out after illness.

Historical Group

Meets At Hickman

Secretary Sue Jackson reported today that the second meeting of the Hickman Historical Society was held Thursday evening, November 2, in the First United Methodist Church with 15 in attendance.

As of yet, the society is unnamed and the members are enthusiastically awaiting suggestions from any interested individual.

Coffee and cookies were served to those who were present. The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, December 7, and anyone who plans to attend is asked to bring an item to show and discuss.

The society hopes to gather some interesting relics and display them in prominent places around town.

OFFICIAL BOARD

The official board of the First Christian Church met Wednesday night at 7 at the church.

Our daughter came in from the florist the other afternoon and laid a spray of lilies across the pages of the family Bible. I couldn't believe my eyes—for it was harvest time, not Easter.

I put them in a vase on the dining room table, and at dinner that night we exclaimed over their sweet fragrance. But, to me, it was vaguely disturbing—Easter lilies in New England in November—the leaves drifting to the ground in the yard outside, and a symbol of the Resurrection blooming, all at the same time.

And why not? What is the Resurrection but rebirth . . . a new beginning? Even in the fall of the year, even in the autumn of our lives, is it ever too late to begin again? Even if one has not been going to church, is it too late to start again? These were the questions I asked myself. I found the answers when I went back to church last Sunday.

Menees Says There's Many Strings Attached To Revenue-Sharing

There are plenty of strings attached to the revenue-sharing money Fulton County is due to receive from the Federal Government on December 1, according to County Judge James Menees.

"I have received four different figures, ranging from $80,000 to $91,100, on the amount that we are going to receive," the county judge said, and went on to state that at first it was said that there would be no strings attached to the money at all.

"But, at a workshop held at Madisonville last Monday, sponsored by the Governor's office and the Department of Revenue, I was handed 19 typed pages of strings attached," Judge Menees said this week.

The Fulton County judge said that they were instructed that if any of the money was spent outside the guidelines, "we will be penalized and have to pay back dollar for dollar money spent wrongly, plus there would be a 10 percent penalty."

At the workshop it was made clear that the county judges could spend the money in the same manner they have been spending local funds they have control over.

"We have had several requests for consideration for funds from several agencies within the county, and we intend to follow the Federal guidelines in every respect," Judge Menees informed The News.

"When we get the first check for money, we will call a budget commissioners meeting and with the help of the county's auditor, will decide how the money is to be spent. We have twenty-four months to budget and spend the funds," Judge Menees stated.

KEN-TEN HOMEMAKERS

The Ken-Ten Homemakers met Thursday with Mrs. Paul McClary.

had "used every means available to verify what witnesses of this type tell you from the witness stand."

During the trial, Maynard testified in his own defense and denied raping and killing Miss Hefley. He also said five prosecution witnesses, including three policemen, lied on the stand.

The jurors interrupted their deliberations to ask that Ousley's cross-examination of Maynard be read back to them.

In that cross-examination, Ousley reminded Maynard that three policemen involved in his arrest recalled his asking, "Who dropped (turned) me in?"

They also testified that Maynard when told he was being arrested for Miss Hefley's murder, asked if she was "the University of Louisville coed."

When Ousley asked if the police were lying, Maynard responded, "That's correct."

Lyon, who like Ousley delivered an emotional final argument, contended that the prosecution failed to prove a rape had occurred. He also branded Bishop as a "liar" and a "thief."

He called on the jurors to find his client not guilty and warned them that a "police state" could result if people go to jail on flimsy evidence.

Ousley told the jury informants are "absolutely necessary" to ensure law enforcement. He said the prosecution's key witnesses had not testified because they were "good citizens," but for other reasons. He suggested that "pangs of conscience" constituted one of the reasons.

He charged that Maynard's former co-workers, who testified as character witnesses, had been "coached" by the defense, and called for the accused to be convicted "in the name of all that's good and right and proper."

After his return to Kentucky Mr. George completed his education, and taught school and engaged in mercantile business for several years. After serving as Deputy Clerk of Graves County he was elected to the Lower House of the Legislature in 1876, and to the State Senate in 1878. In 1888-91 he was Indian Agent in Arizona and California, then resigned and was re-elected to the State Senate. After serving two and a half years as Warden of the Kentucky Penitentiary, by appointment, in 1893, he again retired from office until 1898, when he was appointed State Commissioner of Penitentiary. Has been for the last five years Commandant of the Kentucky Confederate Home.

So read the sketch about Mr. George. Mr. George's book was first published by The Filson Club of Louisville. Then about a year ago five hundred copies were reprinted by the Mullen-Warren Historic Press, Lyndon, Kentucky.

At the February meeting of the Jackson Purchase Historical Society, when I addressed the club, Mr. Wathen presented me with a copy of Mr. George's book—something I will always treasure.

"We will broadcast on the plane what has happened," the airport official said, but he never got around to doing it.

Lucky for Margaret, she was able to tell the young man standing in line between her and Gordon what was happening to her, so when he got on the plane he informed Gordon that she would be along later.

Then, instead of flying to Miami, Margaret's plane went only to Tampa.

When she finally arrived in Miami, Gordon was having their papers checked and their plane to Quito was ready to take off.

Margaret said, "I'm through with that airline!"

Jo received a very nice honor last week and I think that she should tell you about it. I don't understand this sudden shyness of hers. Jo, go ahead and tell 'em.

In my column last week, I stated that I had marked out more than I had left to read.

I did this after a conversation with friends.

Then, these same friends said later that what they said shouldn't have influenced my thinking . . . or writing.

'Tis so . . . but when you write a column you have a lot to consider.

You try to please yourself, your parents, your bosses, and the public, etc., as far as you can . . . and sometimes, if I wrote what comes to my mind, I would have a great big bunch of people mad at me.

Some of my topics were: impartiality in the law; private clubs and public places; slot machines and bootlegging; nice, polite people and rude, hateful folks; plus, a few other topics.

These friends of mine were of the opinion that a private club is the same as a person's home and should be treated as such . . . unless it creates a nuisance, and of course, this is true of a person's home.

See, what touchy subjects I wrote about?

14 ARRESTED—

The officer said three persons arrested Friday were charged with selling marijuana. He identified them as Ricky Brooks, Joe McCollum and Terry Grant.

Another person, identified as Charles Pearson of Martin, was charged with selling marijuana and legend drugs.

Three other arrests were made outside Martin but Chief Benningfield said he could not identify them.

As the result of information furnished by informers and the FBI agent, six raids were conducted Saturday. Chief Benningfield added.

Three UTM students, who were identified as Harley Patterson, Joseph A. Matlock and John M. Borthrick, were charged with the possession of legend drugs.

Similar charges were filed against four non-students identified as Sue Franks, Melanie Creak, Michael E. Hazard and Carole D. Hazard, all of Martin.

Most of those arrested have made bond. Chief Benningfield said. All are scheduled to appear in General Sessions Court in Dresden at 1 p.m. Nov. 20, he added.

sent to the Federal Bureau of Roads, the Tennessee Transportation Department, and the Northwest Tennessee Economic Development District.

In another action, the board recommended that all efforts be made to encourage the state to construct a four-lane highway between Union City and Martin.

The Federal Bureau of Roads has approved additional interstate mileage sufficient for a road between Kansas City and Jacksonville. However, the route has not yet been determined.

The Memphis Chamber of Commerce quickly jumped into the thick of things and proposed that the route come down through Missouri and Arkansas, swing through Memphis and then drop down through Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and on to Florida.

This route would pass through only Memphis in Tennessee, a city, the Union City Chamber board of directors points that is already plagued with a traffic problem.

HUDDLESTON—

A close study of the vote tabulation appearing in this issue makes it extremely difficult to analyze the amount of ticket-splitting that occurred in the voting.

It is interesting to note however the totals in the Congressional race where popular, incumbent Frank Albert Stubblefield was the top vote-getter in the county and the district. The fact that his Republican opponent Charles T. Banken received 732 votes, and an independent candidate John M. Katterjohn received 52 votes is evidence that a good many Democrats voted the straight Republican ticket. The same evidence is true in the sprawling First District where Banken received a whopping 41,951 votes. Stubblefield polled 80,537 votes, making his percentage of victory less than two to one.

It is doubtful that Stubblefield has received that many opposition votes in all of his combined races in Democratic primaries. Banken was totally unknown in many counties in the First District, but the opposition to Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern was so great that his Republican opponent did indeed ride in on Nixon coat-tails.

McGovern's 1024 votes in Fulton County came as something of a surprise to Nixon supporters. McGovern had the editorial endorsement of the Fulton County News and the Hickman Courier.

Devils Win Loop Title

South Fulton's Red Devil football team, an upset victim in the opening game of the season, roared back to whip nine straight opponents and capture the Reelfoot Conference title for 1972.

The last step was completed
Friday evening when the Red and White rattled Dresden 47-21.

The Red Devils and the Lake County Falcons, undefeated in nine games thus far, will play in the first round state playoffs in Union City Nov. 17.

The Devils built up their lead slowly and were ahead only 26-13 after three periods but exploded for 21 points in the final segment of action to nail down the victory.

The Red Devils, preferring to stay with the ground game, rolled up 388 yards of turf and accumulated 24 first downs. Every member of the starting backfield scored in the rout.

"We are just real tickled to win, I guarantee you," an elated Coach Terry Beadles said after the game Friday night. "I told the boys that winning the conference championship is something they will never forget.
I am happy for the boys, the school and the community," Coach Beadles commented.

The Devils, scoring on every possession of the football except one, got their first touchdown on a 15-yard run by Sonny Shepherd.

Steve Wilkerson made it 7-0 only 2:43 into the game.

Minutes later, the Devils tallied another on a six-yard run by Ronald Williams. Wilkerson made it 14-0 before the period ended.

South Fulton stretched its lead to 20-0 at halftime when Mike Brown dived across from three yards away.

Dresden tallied first after the half on a 13-yard run by Thomas Osburn with 6:39 left in the period. The point failed.

The Devils quickly got the points back as Shepherd scored from 20 yards. The try after failed.

The scoring was not ended, however, for the third period, as the Lions' Howard McHaney returned the kickoff 80 yards and the successful kick sent the game into the last frame with the score 26-13.

The Devils moved the ball 80 yards in 13 plays with Phillip Wiley scoring from the two and Wilkerson kicking it afterwards to push it to 33-13 with 9:04 left.
Less than two minutes later,
South Fulton scored again, this time on a 14-yard run by Bob Winston. Wilkerson kicked it good.

Dresden then scored on the Devil reserves with quarterback
Kevin Segebarth hitting McHaney for 18 yards. Seal Hickman ran the points to conclude Dresden's scoring.

The final South Fulton counter came by the B team. Freshman Randy Henderson dived it over from the one with 14 seconds to go. Henderson gained 42 yards in six carries on the drive.
Wilkerson tied it through the uprights to conclude the scoring.

Upland Game Dates Are Drawing Near

FRANKFORT, Ky.—With the opening of Kentucky's upland game season less than a month of his firearms, especially from away, many hunters will find the safety standpoint. Guns themselves poorly prepared unless they begin now to condition their equipment, their dogs and themselves.

Many sportsmen who are in the forty-years-old and up class spend most their days behind a desk. Such people, as a rule, aren't too active and the seldom-used muscles and tender feet make a day of strenuous physical activity an extreme hardship, if not an impossibility.

Such persons should first of all see their doctor for a complete physical checkup. Assuming no problems are encountered there, the prospective hunter should begin an exercise program which will tone up those muscles gradually and sufficiently to undertake and enjoy a day's hunt.

If new hunting boots are needed, don't wait until the day before the season opens to get them. Buy a head and wear with forked antler or antlers ahead. Blisters make poor hunting companions.

Hunting dogs, too, get out of shape and in addition to a gradual increase in the dog's exercise routine, a visit to the vet should be routine for him, also.
Perhaps, immunization shots will
son and Owsley; Furbearers, be needed and the dog will be checked for such things as para-continues through Oct. 31, sec-sites and other disorders as well,
and part, Dec. 1-9.

Of utmost importance to the hunter should be the condition of his firearms, especially from stored since last season should be inspected carefully to see that the barrels are free of obstructions such as mud dauber nests, gobs of lint from the gun cases, etc.

Lastly, the hunter should familiarize himself with hunting rules and regulations and begin to scout his territory. It isn't too early now to check with landowners and request permission to hunt later on. Hunting is, after all, a privilege and not a right and the landowner's property should be respected at all times.

A brief rundown of the 1972-73 seasons, (all dates inclusive) follows:

Rabbit, quail, Nov. 16-Jan. 31;
Squirrel, first phase continues through Oct. 31, second phase
Nov. 16-Dec. 31; Grouse, Nov.
16-Feb. 28; Gun deer, for deer them. Buy a head and wear with forked antler or antlers
ahead. Blisters make poor hunting companions.

Hunting dogs, too, get out of
shape and in addition to a gradual increase in the dog's exercise routine, a visit to the vet
should be routine for him, also.
Perhaps, immunization shots will
son and Owsley; Furbearers,
be needed and the dog will be checked for such things as para-
continues through Oct. 31, sec-
sites and other disorders as well,
and part, Dec. 1-9.

Gina Buckner Miss Woodland

Gina Buckner was named Miss Woodland for 1973 in the annual Woodland Mills Beauty Revue held recently in the school gymnasium. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buckner of Union City.

Donna Thompson, granddaughter of Mrs. Nina Rawlsey of Union City, was selected first maid, while Barbara Kaler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaler of Union City, was named second maid.

Third runner-up was Bonita
Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
John Martin of Union City, and fourth runner-up was Kathy Isbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Joe Isbell of Woodland.

Miss Congeniality, selected by the some 31 contestants, was Shonna Wheeler. Bobby Ransom, formerly of Woodland, served as master of ceremonies.

Clinton Group Will Have Telethon Role

CLINTON, Ky., Nov. 4.—The

Trigg County Coasts Past Determined Bulldogs 50-20

CADIZ, Ky. — District 1-A Champion Trigg County gave Fulton City a run for its money in the first half here Friday night, but then went on to smash the winless Bulldogs 50-20.

Trigg's Wildcats, who will meet Allen County's District 2 Class A champs in regional play-offs here next Friday night, coasted into the halftime break leading the surprising visitors 22-14.

However, the Trigg defense held the Bulldogs to six points in the second half while the Wildcat offense, led by the hard-nosed running of fullback Selby and halfback Ronnie Diggs, punched out 28 markers.

The victory closed out Trigg's regular season play at 10-1 and left Fulton City with an 0-9 record. The loss was Fulton City's 20th straight. Their last victory was Nov. 1, 1970.

Triggs' first and last touchdown of the skirmish came on the dazzling plays.

The opening TD, with 10:41 left in the first quarter, was a 64-yard pass from Trigg quarterback Jimmy Mathis to senior end Henry Martin.

It was the Wildcat's opening play of the game. Mathis hit Martin on a 30-yard flank-out pattern along the right sideline and Martin scampered the remaining yardage.

Trigg's final score, with 2:36 left in the final quarter, was on a 48-yard run by Diggs. The 5-9, 150 lb. senior broke up the middle for the TD to cap a three-touchdown performance for the night.

In the scoring department, though, Diggs was topped by Grubbs who stacked up three of his own TDs with three two-point conversions for 24 points.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Father to the Rescue

Suppose a man sees his son being beaten up by the neighborhood bully. Does he have a legal right to use force in his son's defense?

He does indeed. Parallel to the right of self defense is the right to defend the members of one's family, with force if need be. This doctrine goes all the way back to the days of feudalism, when the master of the household was legally entitled to protect his family from attack.

But in such situations, there is always the chance of escalating the violence. Therefore, the law places careful limits on this right of family defense.

1) The force used must not be excessive. For example:

A father found his son involved in a fracas with the man next door. Rushing to the rescue, he knocked the man unconscious with a mighty blow on the head. Then he followed up with a swift kick in the abdomen.

For the resulting internal injuries, the father was duly held liable in court. The right to defend his son, said the court, did not include the right to kick someone who was lying on the ground unconscious.

2) The force must be used only to defend, not to "get even." In another case, a father found out that a certain teacher had slapped his son in class. Days later, meeting the teacher on the sidewalk, he punched him in the nose.

Could the father be held liable? Again, yes. The court said that since the boy was in no danger at the time of the punch, the father's action could not fairly be called defensive.

3) Many courts add that the father's right to use force is no greater than the child's. Thus: A belligerent teen-ager deliberately picked a fight with another youth. But by the time his father came along, he was already getting the worst of it. The father promptly slugged the other boy with a rock.

Sued later for damages, the father claimed he had acted to protect his son. But the court held him liable anyhow. The court said that, in terms of the right to use force, he "stood in his son's shoes"—that is, in the shoes of the aggressor.

Farmington Rips Wingo

FARMINGTON, Ky. — Exploding for 23 points in the final quarter, Farmington upended Wingo 63-52 in the season opener for both teams here Friday night.

Four Wildcat players reached double figures to lead the hosts to their first victory for 1972-73 season.

Coach Joe Mikez's Wildcats led by six after the first quarter and by five at the half, but a cold third quarter left them behind by three when the final period began. Farmington outscored the Indians 23-9 during that frame and coasted to an easy victory.

Farmington was led in scoring by Greg Smith, a 5-10 junior forward, who netted 19 points. Bob Mangrum followed closely with 15. Joe Chambers and Terry Hunter chipped in 13 and 10, respectively.

Wingo was led by Kenny Ballew with 15 points and Martin Yates with 14.

Farmington shot 34.8% from the field, while Wingo managed only 30.3%. Wingo led in free throw percentage, 57 to 37 per cent.

Coach Mikez's Wildcats host Symonias next Tuesday, while the Indians, under new head coach Wayne Wadlington, travel to Cuba.

Crittenden County Blanks Fulton County Pilots 50-0

HICKMAN, Ky. — Riding behind a sizzling passing attack engineered by injured quarterback Mike Sutton, Crittenden County's Rockets rumbled past Fulton County here Friday night, 50-0.
The victory closed out the first winning season in nine years for the Rockets at 6-5 points. The second was a 19-Fulton County, finishing 6-4 with the defeat, marked up its first winning season ever.
Sutton, playing his final high school game with pulled leg of one and 23 yards respectively, completed 11 out of 13 passes. He was intercepted once.
Three of Sutton's pass completions were touchdown strikes and two more were for success-ful two-point conversions.
Sutton hit paydirt twice in the first stanza, both times to Mike Tosh. The first, a 20-yard play, followed up with an aerial yarder and the conversion run the next play.
The next two Crittenden TD's came on runs by Mike Taylor school game with pulled leg of one and 23 yards respectively, completed 11 out of 13 passes. He was intercepted once.
Then the Sutton-Tosh duo was back again, scoring on a 15-yard play. The conversion attempt failed.
The Crittenden scoring ended in the third period with John-son sprinting 51 yards for one score and Taylor hitting on the final TD from 6 yards out.

So. Fulton Breezes By Dresden 47-21

DRESDON, Tenn. — The South yard line to boost the Red Fulton Red Devils, who have already clinched a berth in the state football playoffs, rolled second half on a 13-yard scoring to their ninth consecutive vic-tory of the season with a 47-21 6:38 left in the third frame.
South Fulton's Shepherd re-dubbing of host Dresden.
Sonny Shepherd opened for the Red Devils with a 15-yard scor-ing run with 9:27 remaining in the opening frame. Steve Wil-kerson split the uprights for the extra point.
Ronald Williams scored South Fulton's second TD when he bolted into the end zone from 13 at the end of three quarters. A two-yard scoring run by Phillip Wiley and a perfect Wil-kerson kick pushed the South Fulton lead to 20 points.
With 9:29 to go in the second a 14-0 first quarter advantage. Red Devil TD of the night when he jaunted into the end zone from 14 yards out. Wilkerson booted his fourth placement of the nights for the extra point.
With 2:41 remaining in the game, Dresden scored its third touchdown on an 18-yard TD pass from Kevin Segebarth to McHaney. Seal Hickman carried the ball across the goal line for the extra points.
South Fulton, now 9-1, will host unbeaten Lake County in the quarter-finals of the play-offs Friday, November 17.

Local Scouts

There's something new for Scouts who in the past have asked for earlier recognition and more flexibility in their advancement program.
As the result of an in-depth research study, the Boy Scouts of America has improved the advancement plan and has added 12 skill awards that combine the former Second Class and First Class skills and offer options to the Scouts.
Bill Nicely, advancement committee chairman for the Four Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America, explains that the new flexible plan provides essential skills for everyday living and for participating in troop and patrol activities while retaining a strong outdoor emphasis.
"The skill award is a combination of Scout, citizenship, and personal skills in like groupings," Nicely says, "and the award, which is a colorful belt loop, is presented to the Scout without delay."
The progress awards—Tenderfoot, Second Class, and First Class—which were formerly called ranks—call for the Scout to select among the skill awards.
For example, for Tenderfoot, a Scout must earn the Citizen-ship skill award and may select any one of the others. For Second Class, he chooses 3 additional, and for First Class, he selects another 3 skill awards—a total of 8 of the 12. Merit badges, which used to be restricted to the higher ranks, now are required earlier—one for Tenderfoot, for example. Out of 24 merit badges to become an Eagle Scout, 5 are earned for the three lower ranks and 19 for three higher ranks.
Nicely explained that by the time that a Scout has earned the First Class progress award, he will have earned 8 of the following 12 skill awards as he may choose: Camping, Citizen-ship, Communications, Com-munity Living, Conservation, Cooking, Environment, Family Living, First Aid, Hiking, Physical Fitness, and Swim-ming.

Fancy Farm Girl Named District Dairy Princess

MAYFIELD, Ky., Nov. 2 — Miss Fay Hodge, Fancy Farm, was crowned District Dairy Princess at a district meeting of the American Dairy Association here Wednesday.
